Dear Fatekh,

We are not planning to have an open house this weekend. I feel three weekends in a row with the property open would look a little desperate with that "Oh, this hasn't sold yet" attitude.

Yes, I utilize a web-based lockbox. We have had 21 visits since the property went on the market with two occurring in the last week. I have left messages for both those agents and have not had a return call.

Miles

Miles,

Does your real estate style lock create log file, showing which agent and when visited my house?

Will be open house held this Saturday?

Thanks
